

ABSTRACT OF THE DISCLOSURE

A therapeutic protein, such as a therapeutic antibody, that is modified with a compound that inhibits binding of the protein to its therapeutic target, thereby reducing side effects caused by the protein.